of amusement to be found on the grounds, and in the absence of juvenile patronage the attractive-looking "merry-go-round" had few customers. In the evening a concert took place, which was fairly attended, the programme consisting of solo, duet, and instrumental music. Mr. Richardson, president of the Trades and Labour Council, occupied the chair, and Miss Theresa Horan, Miss Elliott, Mr. Barnett, and others took part in the performance, and their efforts were fully appreciated.

A grand Irish fancy fair, in aid of St. Benedict's Church and the convent fund, was opened in the hall, Abernethy-street, on Saturday afternoon, by Archbishop Moran. The proceedings were commenced by a procession of the committee and workers who have been instrumental in getting up the fair. Mr. J. H. Ralston then read an ode of welcome, after which the Archbishop delivered an appropriate address, and declared the fair to be open. The following were on the platform—The Very Rev. Dean O'Brien, Rev. Dr. O'Hara, Rev. Fathers O'Brien, Coffey, Furlong, and Moynagh. An enjoyable concert followed, at which Mr. McDonald and Mrs. McCarthy contributed some well-chosen selections. Mr. Halliwell also rendered some valuable assistance, and Mr. J. H. Ralston recited. There was a crowded attendance in the afternoon and at night. The interior of the hall was tastefully decorated with flowers, banners, and devices, and the different stalls bore Irish names and designs. Several gentlemen connected with the church were actively assisting in the management of the fair, and some of the leading men of Ireland in bygone days, Brian Boru, with his attendant guards, armed with their gleaming battle-axes, walked with stately tread through the building, and many others represented the different characters of the Emerald Isle. A crowd of people, both of the sexes, were attracted to the fair, and handsome articles were offered for sale by groups of ladies, and refreshments were to be obtained at moderate prices. The fair, which is well worthy of a visit, is to be continued for some time yet, and it will doubtless attract a large number of spectators.

The Technological Museum, in the Domain, appears to be steadily gaining popular favour, and the attendance in the past few days has been as numerous as the number and the excellence of the exhibits deserve. On Friday last (Boxing Day) the attendance numbered 600; on Saturday it was 864, and the average lately, taking one day with the other, had been 120. Several new exhibits have lately been added to the collection, notably a case of the specimens of wool, some from Tasmania, some from Queensland, and some from the Garra-willa Station, near Coonabarabran, in this colony. The visitors to this museum are somewhat annoyed by the custom of allowing cricket to be played in the Domain. Only a few days ago, a player knocked a ball through the glass windows and smashed one of the large glass cases. The conduct of the cricketers is in other respects often very objectionable, and sometimes even indecent. It is high time that those who desire to practise cricket should find grounds of their own, and not monopolize a large portion of the public Domain, which is intended for the recreation of all, and where they are a danger as well as a nuisance.

In a paper read lately before the Mining Institute of Cornwall, Mr. Brenton Symes, F.R.S., describes a method of treating poor copper ore, applied at the Midland Copper Works in Spain. In reference to it a correspondent writes:—"By a special adaptation of the humid process this company have been enabled to treat low-grade ores, which were formerly considered worthless, at a profit of about 75 per cent. The success of the operation depends entirely on the fact that no reagents are brought from a distance, the process being founded upon a study of the reactions which had previously taken place in the lodes, and an application of the same in treating the ore. The new feature is the introduction of a 'patent' machine, which is a piece of the iron, which closes the liquor, is precipitated, and an acid bath generated capable of attacking those portions which are insoluble in water. This process may prove of value to us in New South Wales, where low-grade ores are now neglected."

Mr. W. E. MURPHY, secretary to the Trades Hall of Victoria, has been entertained by the Trades and Labour Council of this colony at a banquet given by Captain Nieuwenhuis, and had the gratification of seeing the water "manned" by the boys. Afterward, the yard was visited, and there the company were entertained at the Greenhill Hotel at a champagne lunch given by Mr. O'Connor. Mr. Joseph Wright (president of the Trades and Labour Council) proposed the toast of "Mr. Murphy, in doing so he looked upon the visit of his principal guest as a sort of federal reciprocity in regard to the question of labour. Mr. Murphy acknowledged the toast, and in the course of his remarks advocated federation and the reconstruction of trade-unionism under a Trades Hall. The toast of "Mr. O'Connor" was then given by Mr. Talbot: "Success to Trade-Unionism," proposed by Mr. E. W. Sullivan; and the "Health of Mr. Luceombe," proposed by Mr. A. J. Kelly, having been honoured, the company were taken a further trip round various parts of Port Jackson.

Attention of the Supreme Court has been determined that the train is not absolute masters of the road, and are not justified in running at a high speed, but must be on the line, it is well that drivers should be made to understand that they have no right to willfully obstruct the train. For a considerable time past a driver in charge of a lorry has been in the habit of keeping on the line from College-street to Botany-street, notwithstanding that there was ample space for his vehicle on either side of the railway. The police have been taking up Oxford-street were compelled to travel at a snail's pace. The loss of time occasioned by the oft-repeated obstruction has been a source of some irritation and annoyance to passengers.

The following is a copy of a telegram which was received by the Inspector-General of Police, Sydney, on the 20th inst., from Mr. William Hill, of Manila, who is superintendent of the police in that city, and who is on a mission to Pitt-street—"My brother, Edward Hill, born missing since the fire at Coffee Palace Hotel; certain he was a lodger there at that time; last heard of Saturday morning; he then stated he would stay at hotel named; not heard of since. Make strict inquiries. Will be in Sydney Sunday morning." Mr. Superintendent Hill, in reply to the telegram, has replied, having been making active inquiries since the receipt of the foregoing message; but as yet nothing has been ascertained as to the whereabouts of the missing man. Mr. Gripps, in answer to Mr. Hill's inquiry yesterday, stated that he does not remember having seen or heard anything of Hill, and he does not believe that he stayed at the hotel. Mr. Hill, however, strongly suspects that the missing man is covered by the delirium, and he intends to set a party of men at work clearing away the ruins at 9 o'clock this morning in order to see if Hill is lying beneath them. The affair is rather an extraordinary one, as no one seems to have the slightest recollection of seeing Hill about the premises prior to the fire, and he has not been seen since anyone, as far as is at present known, since the burning of the hotel.

A FIREMAN named Joseph Fossard, belonging to the French mail steamer Salazie, whilst on duty at the boiler of the steam wharf, was severely scalded by an escape of steam on the 20th instant. The man was immediately attended to by the ship's doctor, but he expired at an early hour on Saturday morning. The body was removed to the Circular Quay morgue, and an inquest will be held at the White Hart Hotel, George-street North, at 10 o'clock.

A MAN named John Douglas, employed at No. 2 section, Illawarra line, received extensive injuries to his left hip and leg, through a falling iron, near which he was sitting on Saturday. He was taken to the Sydney Hospital, and died.

ABOUT noon on Saturday a man named Daniel Butters, whilst engaged in loading a dray with bales of wool, at Harrison, Jones, and Devlin's store, Circular Quay, was observed by Frederick Dhu, who was lowering the wool from the third floor, to stagger and fall out of the dray. Butters is supposed to have struck his head violently against the wheel of the vehicle or one of the stones in the roadway. He was picked up by John McCormack and Charles Butters (son of the drayman Butters) and taken to the Sydney Hospital. He was there in an insensible condition, and died shortly after being admitted. Deceased lately resided at 78, Dowling-street, Woolloomooloo.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

NEWCASTLE, SATURDAY. The death of a boy named Wilson, aged 22, who was a horse, at Maitland, has just been reported to the police. An inquest will be held to-morrow.

At the annual musical festival in the Crystal Palace Gardens, yesterday, about 700 persons were present, and five bands attended, viz., the Hamilton, Lambton, Morphet, Maitland Town Band, and the band of the 4th Regiment of Infantry. Mr. W. E. Brown, who was the conductor, was successful. All the pieces up the river and harbour passed off pleasantly, and no accidents of any kind have been reported.

The weather is intensely hot.

SUNDAY. The clothes, &c., which were on the body of the man that was found on the river near the Crystal Palace on the 20th instant, have been identified as belonging to a man named George Mason, who was formerly employed as a barman at the Albion Hotel, Maitland. He was last seen alive at the City Bank Hotel, Sydney, on Thursday, the 18th instant, and he was then supposed to be going to North Shore. On that evening his friends concluded that he had been killed in a fight, and therefore they made no inquiries about him, and cannot now explain how he came so near to Newcastle.

The weather was hot here to-day.

TUMUT, SATURDAY. The weather was cool on Boxing Day, and the race passed off pleasantly, though the attendance was smaller than usual on account of a great many holiday parties visiting the Yarragongilly Caves.

At Kintarra there was a fire in the night of the 26th inst. The hall was crowded.

FORBES, SATURDAY. A fire occurred here this morning on the North Hill, completely destroying a house, the property of a widow named Dunn. An inquiry as to the cause of the fire was held this morning, when it was ascertained that the Christmas festivities had passed off very quietly.

The weather is very hot and dry.

GRAFTON, SATURDAY. A dispute occurred last night at South Grafton between two men, one of whom inflicted several severe wounds with some sharp instrument on the thigh and arm of the other. The wounded man was taken to the hospital, and the other held in custody by the police. The latter says that he did it in self-defence.

The boat-building shop of Mr. F. Morrow, of South Grafton, had a narrow escape from being destroyed by fire on Boxing Day. The children had set fire to some shavings near the shed, when the latter caught fire, but fortunately Mr. Morrow was in time to give the alarm. One end of the shed was burnt out before the fire was extinguished, but a new house which was under construction at the time was saved, as also was the timber, of which there was a good stock in the shed.

COONABRABRAN, SATURDAY. The day's races which were to have been held yesterday were postponed owing to the severity of money for prizes.

Business, consequent upon the want of rain, is a very depressed state.

The heat of the past few days has been very intense, the thermometer registering 108 degrees in the shade.

DEATH IN THE BURN FROM STARVATION AND EXPOSURE.

(BY TELEGRAPH.)

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

TUMUT, SATURDAY. An inquest was held yesterday before Mr. F. W. Vyner, coroner, concerning the death of Ann Lydia Cooper, an infant aged six months, who died of exposure and starvation in the bush. Her father was working miles away from home, and the mother left three children, the eldest eight years of age, to be taken care of by the father, who was a stranger in the district, and started with the baby, a boy six years of age, and a dog, for the nearest neighbour, about four miles distant through a terrible rough country, to get a messenger to go to Tumut for medicine for the sick child. The mother lost the track, and wandered about for five days; the first night she was out in a heavy rain-storm, and on the second day her breast milk failed, so that she was obliged to kill the dog to nourish the baby with its blood. On the third night the baby died without any nourishment, and the mother and son camped without either fire or food. On the fourth morning the mother carried the corpse of the baby until the little boy fell down exhausted, and having no other hope of procuring food she then left him near a water-hole to mind the dead child, whilst she endeavoured to find assistance, but for two days she wandered in the bush before striking a Chinaman's hut at Brodbeck, where every assistance was given her. The Chinaman informed a European digger who lived several miles away, and they both started out to search for the boy. They camped on the mountain side at night, and next day they found the body of the boy, who was lying on his back, with his arms and legs outstretched, and his body of the boy. They gave the poor little fellow some food, and when the Chinaman carried the boy and the digger, Taylor, brought the dead body of the baby several miles to the nearest hut, and subsequently they took the mother and boy home, after a week's terrible privation, suffering, and exposure.

A sharp 14 feet long, was caught at Frankston on Saturday, when it was found to contain a portion of an arm and the clothing of a man, as well as a gold watch and chain. The steamer Black Eagle, which sank off the St. Kilda jetty on Friday evening, and which was valued at £3000, was owned by the Melbourne Towing and Lightage Company. She began to make water off the Red Bluff, and the captain pointed for St. Kilda as fast as the steam could carry her, without the aid of the tug Castro, which was the matter.

The vessel did not, it appears, settle down for two hours after the passengers were landed. The vessel, which is an old wooden one, has broken her back.

Among the matters considered was the German annexation of New Guinea; and, should nothing further be heard from the Agent-General, the Premier will telegraph to Mr. Gaskin to-morrow, strongly protesting on behalf of this colony against the extension of German jurisdiction to any part of New Guinea, and also pointing out that the undertaking to contribute to the expenses of the British Protectorate had been given on the faith that no such action as that taken by Germany in New Guinea would be permitted by the British Government; and further, that in consequence of the action of Germany having been permitted, the relations between the Australian colonies and Great Britain are likely to be seriously affected.

The question of a second member of the Land Board was further considered by the Cabinet, but no appointment has yet been definitely made.

The following is the text of Mr. Colman's reply to Mr. Service's application for a joint protest—"I fully recognise the importance of the question as affecting New Guinea, and therefore I shall be glad to know the exact terms of the instructions which you suggest should be sent to the Agents-General, and in which you desire the Government to join."

AMUSEMENTS.

THE THEATRES.

Every seat in the Theatre Royal was occupied on Saturday night, and the performance of Les Huguenots was even more successful than on the occasion of its first production. The role assigned to overacting was enforced by the management, and so the patron of this theatre of pleasure is to enjoy in comfort the entertainment provided for them.

"Martina" was repeated at the Gaiety Theatre, and will be again to-night. To-morrow evening "Carmen" will be put on again.

At the Opera House "Roberti" is still running good business, but several changes in the cast have been made, and being that Mr. John Ford is now the part of the Sultan, and that he sings a clever patter song full of local allusions.

BOWEN PARK, BOWEN PARK.

KOUARAH TOWNSHIP.

Almost at the Station Gates, and in the centre of this GROWING Suburb.

BOWEN PARK IS 364 ACRES in extent.

BOWEN PARK fronts the two main roads in Kogarah, viz., Kogarah and Rocky Point Roads.

BOWEN PARK is on the highest point in Kogarah, 100 feet above the station, and slopes gently to the east.

BOWEN PARK is of rich, heavy soil, no rocks, gullies, or swamps, but every inch good available land.

BOWEN PARK has all 66 feet streets, and lanes at rear of business sites.

BOWEN PARK is surrounded by the various churches, stores, business premises, hotels, bank, the Public Schools, and residences of Messrs. Moore, Carruthers, Bowen, South, Hermann, and others.

DOWEN PARK commands the best view to be obtained in the whole district, comprising a panorama of the Ocean Bay, the city of Sydney, the surrounding country, the mountains, the ranges of Port Phillip.

SALE DAY,
SATURDAY, 17TH JANUARY, 1885.

DOWEN PARK is only about 50 yards from the Railway Line and about 200 yards from the Station. Coaches for Sandringham and Wombora pass on the main roads every hour.

DOWEN PARK is within 40 yards of Kozahar Bay, where the clearing residences of Messrs. Rust, Finis, Moyse, Carr, and others, with tastefully laid out grounds, fringe the water's edge. The fishing stations of Messrs. Jones, Emerson, Smith, and others are also located on this bay.

BOWEN PARK is within half a mile of Lady Robinson Beach—the grandest beach in the world.

BOWEN PARK is well known as the old Kogarah racetrack, and on portion of it are the old Half-way House and the Roman Catholic Chapel (now to be replaced by a substantial edifice).

KOGARAH is only 6½ miles from Sydney.

KOGARAH has twelve trains daily, and time of journey twenty minutes.

SALE DAY, 17th JANUARY, 1888.

The returns for the ILLAWARRA LINK are unprecedented, and it is the first line in the colony that from its opening HAS RETURNED A PROFIT.

BUILDING OPERATIONS are going on apace at Kogarah, as testified by the new houses being erected for Mr. Chubb, the Kogarah hotel, the new school of Mr. Macdonald, the villa residence of Mr. Crawford, Esq., J. F., and many others, either commenced or in progress, completing. Fully thirty houses in course of erection on land adjacent to the park.

THE BANK OF AUSTRALASIA has opened a branch at Kogarah, near Bowen Park.

THE KOGARAH SCHOOL OF ARTS is shortly to be erected on a little stone's throw of Bowen Park.

Within a lot in Bowen Park laid out in large blocks with every square foot of ground.

BOWEN PARK lies between Hay View Park and the Kogarah, and

There can be no more lead sales in Kogarah proper when Bowmore Park is cleared off, as it is the last of the popular Kogarah Hill, the site of the town.

SALE DAY, SATURDAY, 17th JANUARY, 1888.

THE DISCOVERY OF COAL at HEATHCOTE will render George's River a first-class Shipping Port and business Centre.

Orchards and Gardens (flower and vegetable) thrive most luxuriantly at Kogarah in all seasons.

FOR PROOF OF ALL THE ABOVE just take a trip to BOWMORE PARK, and through KOGARAH, judge for yourselves.

Inspection cordially invited as the land will bear inspection.

DAILY SALE. DAY OF SALE.

SATURDAY, January 17, 1864.

TITLE, PERFECT FREEHOLD, of which you can satisfy yourself by applying to the Solicitor to the Estate, J. H. Carruthers, Esq., 130, Pitt-street, Sydney.

Terms of Sale :

No. 1.—10 per cent. deposit, balance by equal payments every six months—viz., 6, 12, 18, 24, 30, and 36 months from day of sale, with interest at 6 per cent.

No. 2.—15 per cent. deposit, balance at 1, 2, and 3 years, with 6 per cent. interest.

No. 3.—5 per cent. deposit, balance in three years at 6 per cent. interest, or to suit intending buyers for immediate possession.

SPECIAL TERMS.
The buyer of any one lot may, on purchasing the two adjoining allotments, pay cash for the allotment he intends to build upon, and receive his deeds thereon, and secure the adjoining allotment by a deed of mortgage for the sum of £1,000, at 1, 2, and 3 years, at 6 per cent. These terms enable a purchaser with a limited capital to build his home on his own free land and to secure by a refining mortgage the property, which is enhanced in value by his building and other improvements.

In order to preserve the beauties of this, the pick of the suburbs of Kogarah, the vendors will not permit any shanties to be erected on the estate, and require all buildings to be of a value of at least £200.

For the confidence of intending buyers we beg to state that the vendors are the same as in Hay View Park, lately sold on the same terms, and we are enabled to offer the same at a lower price.

Bowen Park as in the case of "A View Park, viz., to allow the buyers themselves to make the bidding, without any putting of running.
